Anuban Nakhon Si Thammarat is looking for young, energetic, and compassionate teachers to start the new school year in May 2023. We currently have openings in our Kindergarten and Primary programs for qualified teachers:

- from a native English speaking country
- Bachelor's degree
- TEFL Certification
- experience working with children

Nakhon Si Thammarat is on the southeast coast, an hour and a half south of the pier that takes you to the Gulf of Thailand islands (Koh Samui, Koh Phangan, Koh Tao) and less than an hour from multiple waterfalls/rivers/mountains to the west. The coast/beach starts 30 minutes north of the city and goes on for about 100km. Along the way are empty beaches to explore and restaurants/bars/bungalows interspersed throughout. Along the way are Sichon and Khanom, a couple of beautiful beach towns where the foreign teachers often go for a weekend away to camp on the beach or stay in beachfront hotels/bungalows. If you like sports, the foreign teacher community here has weekly games of football/soccer, ultimate frisbee, basketball, and badminton; it's easy to find some people to join you in whatever else your interest is: yoga, tennis, ping pong, pool/snooker. Nakhon is not a touristy town in any way so you have a great opportunity to immerse yourself in Thai culture, learn the language and make some Thai friends, as well. One of the best things about Nakhon is the balance it has between being a "real" Thai city (no tourists) and the friendly foreign community that lives here.

Our school has 3 programs that employ foreign teachers:

- a full English Program for Grades 1-6 (students have 16 English classes/week)
- a less intensive English Enhancement Program for Grades 1-6 (students have 9 English classes/week)
- a Kindergarten Program for K2 and K3 (students have 2 English classes/week)

We teach a variety of subjects in the EP: Science, Math, Art, Computer, Health/PE, Technology, Global Studies, and different aspects of English, while the EEP and Kindergarten focus only on English-language subjects. The kids are amazing, really well-behaved and a lot of fun to be around. Our teachers have around 15 contact hours a week.

We have a great group of 20 teachers from the U.S., England, Scotland, Ireland, and South Africa; everyone is in their 20s and 30s and really easy to get along with. We get together a lot to travel on the weekends or play sports/watch movies/eat dinner during the week. The city as a whole has about 150 foreign teachers. It's a really nice community atmosphere here; a few times a year, we'll organize a big trip to go kayaking or camping, or to floating bungalows on a nearby lake, or to a private island in one of the national parks. Other times, people drive their motorbikes to a nearby beach or waterfall and have a chilled-out weekend. And there's always the party atmosphere of the islands if that's what you're into. Our foreign staff finishes school at 2:30 on Fridays so we can get a head start if we're traveling for the weekend.

We offer contracts beginning on the first day of the school year (usually May 1) and finishing on March 31 the following year. We have 1-month holiday breaks in October and April when most teachers travel around SE Asia on their school wages. The starting salary is 36,000 baht/month (41,000 for teachers with an Education degree) with an annual re-signing raise of 1,000 or 2,000 baht depending on performance.

The school helps new teachers get set up with accommodation (there are a number of apartment complexes/hotels we can set you up in initially while you look for a long-term house or apartment), bank accounts, transportation (most people buy a motorbike/scooter), all official documents (Non-Immigrant B visa, Work Permit) and anything else that you would need.

If interested, please get in touch with Scott Berg (scott.berg7@gmail.com) to discuss things in more detail.
